Leadership Glades reception is tonight

A welcome reception for the participants in this year's Leadership Glades will be held at 6 p.m. tonight. The reception will be at the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, West Sugarhouse Road, Belle Glade.

Man dies after inhaling chlorine gas

A worker at the Okeelanta Sugar Mill died last Wednesday morning after inhaling chlorine gas at the work site.

Albio Camejo, 60, became sick about 9:15 a.m. after changing a set of chlorine gas tanks in the water treatment plant at Okeelanta.

Mr. Camejo told his co-workers he was having trouble breathing after the accident.

An Okeelanta ambulance was called and took Mr. Camejo to Glades Central Hospital Emergency Room.

Mr. Camejo died on the way to the hospital, despite life saving measures, according to the report from the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department. Attempts to revive Mr. Camejo at the hospital failed.

An autopsy was performed and the death was ruled accidental death from asthmatic bronchitis due to the exposure to chlorine gas. Mr. Camejo had worked at Okeelanta Sugar mill for the past seven years. He lived at 611 W. Ventura Ave. in Clewiston.

Man accused of shooting at teens

A nineteen-year-old man is accused of shooting at a group of teenagers who were gathered in the parking lot of Lake Hardware last Saturday evening.

Police were called to the parking lot about 2:30 a.m. after a group said someone had fired "numerous" shots at them from a moving vehicle.

The victims identified the suspect as Gary Lee Boe, also known as Gary Ingole of 55 Hibiscus Street, Clewiston.

Boe was taken into custody by Clewiston police the next day and charged with one count of aggravated assault and one count of shooting from a moving vehicle. He was later released on a $3,000 bond.

AHA turn in party is next Thursday

Participants in the first Glades American Heart Association's Heart Walk are invited to a "Turn in party" on Thursday, October 15 at 6 p.m.

The party will be held at Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative on the fourth floor.

Walkers who raised pledges for the Heart Association can turn in their pledges at this time. Those who raised $75 or more will be given a Heart T-shirt.

Local woman named to Health District Board

By CHIP NEWTON
SUN Staff

Belle Glade born and raised community activist Harma Miller has been appointed by Governor Lawton Chiles to the governing board of the Palm Beach County Health Care District.

Mrs. Miller, who will be 48 on Christmas Day, was born at Glades General Hospital.

She said her first priority will be to help the district return to manageability so it can deliver on its goal of providing quality health care to Palm Beach County's medically indigent.

Citing reasons for becoming actively involved in the community, she said she and her husband own Miller Mortuary in Belle Glade and the business "is like a neighborhood problem center."

"For years my husband and I have listened to the problems of families and friends of victims of AIDS and other health problems."

The Health Care District could be said to have problems, too, what with being $400 million in debt, and facing continuing legal action from Pahokee's Everglades Memorial Hospital, as well as having just suffered the indignity of seeing six of its seven board members ousted for conflicts of interest.

Sugar farmers right; STAs may not work

By CHIP NEWTON
SUN Staff

Expert research undertaken at the behest of the South Florida Water Management District indicates area sugar farmers may be right in at least one of their contentions about the proposed SWIM (Surface Water Improvement and Maintenance) plan: STAs may not work as designed.

STAs (man-made filter marshes; Stormwater Treatment Areas) have been proposed by the District as the most cost-effective method for removing phosphorus from farm runoff water, but farming interests have vociferously opposed the concept, saying that the STAs will not work as designed.

The research, outlined in a report just received by the District, indicates that up to twice the acreage may be necessary for the man-made marshes to remove the amount of phosphorus mandated by the SWIM plan.

The report, by the engineering firm of Burns and McDonnell, examined only the District's STA concept. The study concluded that while the settling rate for phosphorus may in fact be eight meters per year in water conservation

Farmers win legal round; will visit parks

After three years of being blocked by the Justice Department, scientists working for area farmers have been granted access to Everglades National Park.

A state hearing officer in Tallahassee has ordered the U.S. Government to allow Florida Sugar Cane League researchers and scientists into both the Park and the Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge.

Farming interests had been denied access to the areas by the National Park Service and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Scientists were threatened with arrest if they attempted to enter the publicly owned areas.

Farmers in the Everglades Agricultural Area (EAA) have argued there is not sufficient scientific evidence to justify the extreme remedies called for in the Everglades SWIM plan.

Seminole Manor residents still have water problems

By CHIP NEWTON
SUN Staff

A quiet battle over water rights, and wrongs, goes on in Pahokee.

There may be no winners, ever.

Several residents in the Seminole Manor area have water, and raw sewage, standing in their yards and driveways.

The residents claim the water has stayed on lawns and driveways for months at a time, ever since they moved in, starting in July a year ago.

They say they've gone to city commissioners and to the developer of the subdivision. They claim to have called county departments, state agencies and federal bureaus.

It's not anybody's fault, they've learned.

September 29 rains severely compounded the problems, dumping more than seven inches of water in an area already too wet, and flooding many of their homes.

Their insurance agencies turned down their claims, they say.

They're trying now to find out if their homes are built in a flood-prone area according to governmental guidelines, but they don't know where to find the governmental guidelines.

They're not getting much help from anybody, either.

They say when they called Tripp Construction the first time, they were told it was not Tripp's problem by a woman who refused to give her name.

The next time they called Tripp they were told Southern Bell had broken a pipe and Tripp's plumbers couldn't get to it to repair it until the city (Pahokee) "shuts down the pumps," they said.

They called the city and were told there was "maybe a leak in the line and 'We should look in front of the house for a leak,'" they said.

Then, they say, Tripp told them (They Tripp) couldn't fix the drainage until they (Tripp) built some more houses on the next street, till they build some more homes, then they'll be able to complete the drainage system.

"We can't live in the ones we've got, and they're going to let them to build some more!" said Mrs. Murray.

LaRue Tripp is out of town and unavailable for comment, according to the person who answered the phone at Tripp Construction offices Tuesday.

"He's a wonderful man. He's a kind, compassionate man that would never mistreat anybody. He'd go out of his way to help these people" said the voice, who wouldn't identify herself.

"I'm not allowed to speak for the company."

They've dug ditches in their once-pretty lawns in an attempt to drain off the sewage that puddles here and there, but, as of Monday evening, most still could not flush their toilets.

The toilets have been clogged and overflowing since the rains of September 29.

But there are portable toilets down the street not far around the corner they can use anytime, day or night.

The potting-trailer arrived Friday afternoon - after repeated requests, according to Doretha Murray, one of the affected homeowners.

Mrs. Murray said she and others had first

Florida farmers protest NAFTA agreement

Studies conducted by the Commission for the Study of International Migration and Cooperative Economic Development and the University of Florida estimate Florida's farmgate value loss will range from $80 million to as high as $300 million if the North American Free Trade Agreement goes into effect as written, according to a letter to U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills signed by 19 members of the Florida congressional delegation.

The letter also estimates job loss due to market and production losses for fruits and vegetables other than citrus in the state will range from 16,600 to 60,000 jobs.

Noting that apparent long-term benefits to the U.S. are encouraging, the delegation has sought ways to lessen the impact on Florida agribusiness.

As a result of a September 22 meeting with representatives from Florida's agricultural industries, the congressional delegation recommended several changes to the NAFTA:

Citrus - 20-year drop dead period with no reduction in citrus tariff schedule during the period;

Enforcement of phytosanitary standards to ensure that only wholesome citrus products enter the U.S.;

Implementation of an accurate and timely tracking system to monitor Mexican production, processing, packing, and shipping, and monitoring of imports of fresh and processed citrus products into

Belle Glade Police give face-lift to homes in Belle Glade

By Darren Kirch

At least a dozen members of the Belle Glade Police Department converged on the residence located at 644 S.W. 5th Street in Belle Glade on Saturday.

Upon their arrival they were not dressed in their regular para-military uniform, nor were they armed with battering rams or assorted weaponry. Today the police came in old clothing and brought ladders and painting supplies.

In a project sponsored entirely by the Fraternal Order of Police, Belle Glade Lodge #135, and members of the department who donated their time, the house was given a face lift.

The resident, 54-year-old Mary Edna Wilkerson who has lived in the house for 25 years, was happy over the visit.

Mrs. Wilkerson was widowed two years ago and since that time has been busy raising three of her four children who still live with her.

Mrs. Wilkerson is a former caddy worker who said, "Jobs have been hard to find."

Steve Hinton, a member of The Fraternal Order of Police Lodge and a Sergeant assigned to the department's Road

Patrol Division, were instrumental in organizing the project. Hinton said, "This is our way of helping out and enhancing community relations."

The residence was painted green with white trim. The final step was the affixing of large address numbers to the front of the house that will assist Police, Fire and Medical Personnel in locating the residence in an emergency.

Mrs. Wilkerson was smiling upon the projects completion and called the results "very professional."

Heart Walk raises $7,200

By Brenda Dunting
SUN Editor

Close to 150 walkers braved blisters and sore muscles to help raise money for the American Heart Association last Saturday morning.

The Glades American Heart Walk, a 6.2 mile hike, netted $7,200 for the Heart Association.

Glades Heart Chairman Lester Baird said he was elated with the turnout.

"We had lots of walkers who got good exercise and raised a lot of money for the Heart Association," he said.

Heart Walk Chairman Ellen Humphries said she was very proud of the Glades as a whole. "We kept right up there with the coast," she said. "Seeing as this was our first Heart Walk, we did very well."

The weather was a factor in the good turnout locally, according to Dee Rickard, program director for the Heart Association. She said Boca Raton, Delray Beach and West Palm Beach got "dumped on."

The Glades Heart Committee had set a goal of having 250 walkers and raising $3,000, but many felt the walk could bring in as much as $6,000.

Ms. Rickard said "We did better than Delray, which had 98 walkers and Wellington which had 70 walkers."

North Palm Beach reported 115 participants and West Palm Beach had close to 300.

Glades General Hospital will be presented a trophy at the turn-in party Oct. 15 for having the most walkers, 37. Everglades Memorial Hospital came in second with 30 walkers.

Business sponsors for the event included Pizza Hut, which gave 25 pizzas for the walkers, The Drawbridge Cafe and Days Inn, Kirchman Oil, Everglades Farm Equipment, Glade and Grove Supply, U.S. Sugar, Flo Sun Inc, Laura Rogers, Bank of Pahokee and Barnett Bank, Crystal Water, Pioneer Growers, Jeff Hooker with Atlantic Pacific Insurance, Warren and Paul Prescott, Lake Hardware, Belle Glade Wholesale, U-Save, Winn Dixie, McArthur Dairy and Gatorade.

Two other events are planned by the Heart Association in the next six months, Jump Rope for Heart and a Heart Ball in February or March.

On Thursday, September 30, Glades Central's drama club held an after-school meeting. Plans for fund-raising and upcoming productions were discussed.

As a fund-raiser, the drama club will sell posters, wrapping paper and cards. Proceeds from the sales will be used to finance the annual district Thespian competition. The fund-raising drive will begin October 5 and will continue for a two week period, so drama boosters can expect to meet Glades Central drama members with their samples.

A cursory reading of "Spunk," an adaptation of a play by Zora Neale Hurston, followed the fund raising discussion.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 8 in Mrs. Bennett's room.

Glades Central High School's display at the International Children's Arts Day Celebration for the opening of Raymond F. Kravis Center for the performing Arts took first place for best costume, best flag and best display on September

Under the direction of Laura Hoard, ESOL teacher, Glades Central students, Alexa Lutz, Mayra DeLeon, and Anthony Parrish from Nancy Smith's gifted English Class, researched their assigned country, the Dominican Republic. The display, titled "Glades Central Students Write about the Dominican Republic," featured original poems written by Alfredo Montoya, Vondrea Salter, Mary Harvey, Della Johnson, Alexa Lutz, Maria Renteria, and Toni Wilcox. Tenth grade student Alexa Lutz designed and prepared much of the display which was patterned after the annual science fair boards.

Mayra DeLeon, assisted by art teacher Leroy Williams, painted the flag representing the Dominican Republic.

Dressed in white dresses representative of the Dominican republic, Mayra DeLeon and Alexa Lutz carried the flag during the opening ceremonies on Saturday, September 19. DeLeon and Lutz presented the first place prize of $250

"Due to the rain, please hold classes." That announcement means either good or bad news for Glades Central's Students and staff. With the frequent rains this fall class and activity schedules for the school have been thrown into chaos many days.

With rain, students are unable to walk orderly from the main or annex campus to the other buildings. Flexibility is the key, but everyone wishes for a unified campus where acts of nature do not create confusion. Weather reports are listened to at GCCHS.

Attention: Tutoring in math and science after school on Fridays between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. is available from Mr. Abdul Sheikh in room C-20 at the annex campus. Mr. Sheikh and others also work on the Homework Hotline (1-800-548-0245). Monday through Thursday from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Have a question about an assignment? The Hotline can help.

areas, that rate may not be transferable to proposed STAs. Agricultural interests had said previously the STAs wouldn't work, but their comments were generally considered self-serving and largely ignored in a battle that has dragged on for about three years.

Dr. Curtis J. Richardson, director of the Duke University Wetland Center, told the fourth International Wetlands Conference in late September that test soils such as those in the Everglades have very low phosphorus storage rates and those soils' retention capacity is easily exceeded.

According to a soon-to-be-published paper by Dr. Richardson and Dr. Christopher Craft, "The State of Florida's SWIM Plan has overestimated phosphorus retention capacity by two to three times the natural capacity of Everglades wetlands."

Farm interests claim inadequate research supports the SWIM STAs, and that the federal government has forced the state to proceed without the necessary data.

In another report received almost simultaneously, the District was told that the best possible alternative for cleaning up the Everglades might be a combination of wetlands and chemical treatment. The study was performed for the District by the engineering firm of Brown and Caldwell.

Farmers have contended that without access to the federal lands, League scientists are unable to verify the government's allegations that damage to the vegetation, soil and water quality in the Park and

The preliminary field visit to locate sample sites occurred October 6. Final details of the terms and conditions under which the scientists will be able to gather samples during the course of the program are to be announced at a hearing Oct. 16. In its petition to the state's Division of Administrative Hearings, the League requested permission to enter Everglades National Park and the Loxahatchee National Wildlife

The elementary faculty will be managing the Country Store, which will feature all kinds of gator items, arts and crafts, and dried apples, fudge, second time around items, and a recipe tasting table.

The auction will begin at 3 p.m. in the school's gymnasium. An array of items will be offered for sale to the highest bidder. The afternoon's climax will be the final drawing for the winner of a brand new, fully loaded, 1993 Ford Mustang LX. Tickets for the car are available in the high school office or from any board member for $100 each.

Proceeds from the Carnival and auction will go towards the school's general fund and various classes and organizations.

Mexico to prevent the possibility of citrus products entering the U.S. duty free through Mexico.

Harmonization of Mexican labor and environmental standards with those of the U.S.

Sugar - Net Exporter Determination: 1) Calculation of net exporter determination status expanded to include corn sweeteners, 2) Calculation of net exporter status on basis of verifiable history. Sound verification methods must be established and enforced;

Access limitation- Strike the two consecutive-year surplus producer status provision. (The NAFTA provides that Mexico's access to the U.S. market would be expanded to 150,000 tons in year seven, and increased 10 percent per year during years eight through fifteen. This would amount to 322,000 tons, or 44 times Mexico's current access, by year 15. If Mexico achieves surplus producer status any two consecutive years, including years one through six, according to the proposed agreement, it is permitted to send its entire exportable surplus to the U.S.)

When U.S. domestic marketing allocations are in place, imports from Mexico, or any other country, above the 1.25 million short-ton minimum, must be subject to the common external tariff. To prevent substitution during or after the transition period, Mexico must apply the common external tariff to all non-NAFTA sugar imports after it achieves Net Exporter status;

Sugar-Containing Product Recommendation- Transition period should be changed to 15 years consistent with the transition period for raw sugar.

Fruits and vegetables - Recommend providing sensitive commodities with a transition period affording producers the maximum time for adjustment. (Throughout NAFTA negotiations, winter fruits and vegetables were recognized as being the most sensitive to tariff reductions. However, only four percent of Florida's winter fruit and vegetables are contained in the longest phase-out period)

Recommend inclusion of a price-based special safeguard mechanism for perishable

Feel strongly about local issues? THE SUN INVITES YOU TO SPEAK OUT! 996-6636

To voice your opinion on any subject, call Speak Out at 996-6636, 24 hours a day. Readers can use this special number to pose questions, voice complaints, express opinions or pat somebody on the back. Unlike letters to the editor, Speak Out is designed for anonymous expression of opinions. We edit Speak Out calls for clarity, brevity, relevance and fairness.

Life is more than football
We're back to Roman Gladiators and Lions. I hate football.
If people locally, state wide and nationally spent as much time, attention, energy and money on homeless, Aids cures, cancer research, abused people, the ozone layer, etc., perhaps everyone could have a better world for all. Why pay one person millions of dollars to knock around another person?

Certain values and the Golden Rule need to be made legal. Sports have become out of control, particularly professional ones, and occasionally local.

Mas Luces Que Sombras

Editor's note: This article expresses Mr. Pichardo's thoughts about the influence and results the Christian Doctrine would have in the discovery of the New World, five hundred years back, and the conquest and evangelization of America, bringing more lights than shadows.

Cristobal Colon, que considero el exito de su expedicion un milagro evidente, dirigiendose a la Reina Isabel la Catolica --su ferviente protectora-- le expreso: "soy yo a quien Dios ha elegido por su mensajero, mostrandome donde encontrar el nuevo cielo y la nueva tierra, acerca de los cuales el Señor habia hablado por boca de San Juan en su Apocalipsis y de los que Isaías habia hecho previa mencion".

Expresion reveladora, lo expuesto, de la participacion, influencia y logros que la doctrina cristiana habria de tener en el descubrimiento del Nuevo Mundo y su subsiguiente conquista y evangelizacion.

devolviera la salud al hijo que languidecia. Ellos sudaban hasta caer exhaustos, hacian ayunos, laceraban su cuerpo, guardaban largos silencios, aguijoneados por el hambre de sensaciones misticas. Ellos mostraban respeto por la vida de los ancianos y los niños, y lo que es mas elocuente, por el cuidado y el desarrollo de las creaturas en el vientre materno, esos que los civilizados llamamos "fetos" para poderlos matar, -con tal desparrajo que hasta un candidato a la presidencia de Norte America (In God we trust) el Gob. Bill Clinton, se atreviera a declararse partidario del aborto. En fin, Dios creo al hombre y a la mujer implantando dentro de su ser la nocion de lo Divino.

Espania trajo a America lo mejor de su cultura. En el orden agricola, la flora y la fauna se vieron rapidamente enriquecidas, con animales domesticos y cultivos menores; equipos de labranza, asi como la tecnica apropiada para hacer uso de ellos.

Tambien trajo destruccion y muerte. El encañuto entre los europeos fue penoso y cruel para los nativos. La propagacion de enfermedades, para las que no tenian defensas, cubrio un alto tributo de muerte. La crueldad despiadada de muchos colonizadores, sembró abusos, destruccion y muerte entre los nativos.

La tradicionalmente conocida "leyenda negra", que atribuye crueldades dantescas a la Espana catolica, es canallaza y mal intencionada. No se olvide que, en muchos casos, los excesos de los conquistadores fueron reaccion a las agresiones sanguinarias de algunos indios.

El maximo valor del descubrimiento de America fue el haber proporcionado la ocasion favorable para la difusion del Evangelio. Asi que, a las debilidades humanas negativas pudiera oponerse la practica de la virtud, y a las injusticias, la fuerza de la moral y el cristianismo enarbolado por el propio Jesucristo.

Se cometieron desastres si. Pero nos dejaron quinientos años de caminos repletos de luces.

Letters to the editor

Pastor attacked outside church

Dear Editor:

On Sunday, September 6, shortly after 11:00 a.m. I was attacked and injured after my van was entered and my notary seal kit and its contents were stolen.

As a result of the attack, abuse and injuries I suffered, I was taken to Glades General Hospital by ambulance in an unconscious state. I suffered a torn ligament in my right shoulder, a bruised right eye where I was hit with an instrument or punched with a fist, a rising or lump on the side of my head above my right ear, as a result of being thrown to the ground, a swollen left jaw, the result of being continually punched while semi-conscious.

This vicious and violent attack was unwarranted.

I wish to thank the young man who witnessed this incident and called 911. I feel deeply indebted to the Belle Glade Police Department, Rescue Squad, ambulance etc., for their quick response and efficient services rendered. (There are others who saw what happened, but did nothing to help because they did not want to get involved. To those I say, I survived without you anyway.)

To all those who called, sent messages, and visited me, I thank you. Special recognition to the Pastor, Rev. Hartzog, and the congregation of the First Baptist Church of Belle Glade, for the lovely cards with such beautiful words of comfort, encouragement and consolation and above all the assurance of your prayers.

I am still unable to use my left arm, but I am improving.

God bless all of you in his service.

Rev. Clifford C. Davis

Homeowners ask for help

Dear Editor:

We, the homeowners of Seminole Manor Grove, are highly upset.

When we purchased these homes we were told they were properly constructed.

When we first saw the homes, we saw the ditches for the drainage system, the electric boxes, and the palm trees in the yard. Everything was fine. We put in trees and flowers and were working at making the place look alive.

One day we had a small amount of rain and the drainage didn't work at 327 Seminole and next door.

We called and were told that the drainage could not be corrected until they build some more houses behind us.

Why should they be permitted to build more houses when we aren't able to live in these?

Drainage is causing problems; small children can't play in the yard because water stays in the yard and driveway.

The water in the yard has killed the grass and flowers.

Our bathrooms are clogged up.

We've been without a bathroom for a week now. We went to the city.

Mr. Schenck (Pahokee City Manager Ken Schenck) told us in last month's commission meeting that if we had problems to come to him. We did.

He promised to check further into the problem. We called again and he told us to try taking the sewer lines loose and letting them flow into the yard. We did and...

The sewer still wouldn't flush. We need help bad.

We asked for a portable toilet Tuesday, but as yet (Friday noon) we haven't got one, and from the looks of it, we won't.

Now his secretary says he's gone on vacation. She told us that public works (Bruce Miller) handles that, but he too is out of town. It looks like another day without a toilet.

Help.

Signed,

Ophelia Williams

House approves funding for US 27

The House of Representatives has approved a House-Senate compromise containing Congressman Tom Lewis' request for funding to continue the four-laning of U. S. 27 in southern Palm Beach County.

This stretch of two-laned road has earned the morbid nicknames of "Killer Highway" and "Bloody 27", due to the number of fatal accidents which take place on the narrow roadway. This is the third year of federal funding for this program, and brings the total to over eleven million dollars.

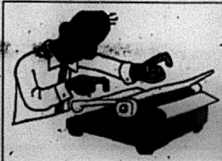

ago indicated that highway fatalities in Palm Beach County rose an astonishing 28 percent last year.

"I am pleased that funds remain in this bill, for the third year in a row, that continue this vital project," said Rep. Lewis (R - North Palm Beach). "We are all too often reminded of the danger of this highway. Four-laning will provide the safety necessary for thousands of travelers."

A report issued just months ago indicated that highway fatalities in Palm Beach County rose an astonishing 28 percent last year.

"This funding means the improvements will continue, and that this needless loss of human life will finally end."

Recycle phone books
Old telephone directories are acceptable for recycling during the Palm Beach County Solid Waste Authority's annual program, now through December 1.
"Anything that Palm Beach County recycles reduces the amount of material entering the general waste stream, saves natural resources and landfill space, and is counted towards Florida's mandated 30 percent recycling goal," said James Greer, residential recycling coordinator, Solid Waste Authority.

BellSouth began delivery of new Palm Beach County telephone directories September 30. Included in the directories will be a notice to residents and businesses with instructions for proper recycling of old telephone books.
Residents and businesses may recycle old telephone directories, including the yellow pages, by participating in curbside, multifamily, and drop-off collection programs. Participants should use one of the following methods to recycle an old directory:
Curbside recycling—Place the old directory, including yellow pages, into or beside the curbside recycling bin on any regularly scheduled recycling pick-up day through December 1.
Multifamily recycling—Communities with recycling service should deposit the old directory, including yellow pages, with newspapers through December 1.
Drop-off recycling—Residents or businesses may use community drop-off locations. Old directories, including yellow pages, may be recycled with newspapers at sites listed below through December 1.

The 1991 recycling program in Palm Beach County collected a total of 327 tons of directories which were recycled into wallboard.
In Belle Glade, directories may be dropped off at either Big Lake Shopping Plaza on South Main Street or at McCrory's Shopping Plaza in 16th Street. Both sites are open 24 hours.
South Bay residents and businesses may leave their old directories at South Bay Plaza on Highway 27, 24 hours a day.
In Pahokee, use the Foodway Plaza on East Main Street, also 24 hours.

ASCS to conduct elections for committees
The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), the farm program branch of U.S. department of Agriculture, operates under a committee system at the county level. The Committee members' responsibility is to ensure successful accomplishment of national programs by local producers.
Palm Beach County is represented by three communities on the ASCS county committee: Belle Glade, Coastal, and Pahokee. Each year the election is held in one of the communities. This year the election is for the Belle Glade community.
Petitions for nominating candidates of your choice will be mailed on October 8. A petition signed by three eligible voters is needed to nominate a farmer-candidate.
Almost anyone eligible to take part in a county ASCS program may be a candidate for the county ASCS committee.
The candidate must reside and farm in the community.
Farm owners, agricultural producers, ranchers, and land owners are eligible to vote in the ASC election. A list of eligible voters is posted in the ASCS office in Belle Glade.
ASCS is encouraging women and members of minority groups to participate.
The election will be conducted December 7. Ballots must be returned to ASCS or postmarked December 7 to be eligible.
If you do not receive a ballot and believe you are eligible to vote, contact the ASCS office. Ballots are available at the ASCS office.

Terriers nip Crusaders, 26 - 16

By CHIP NEWTON
SUN Staff

The Crusader defense could not stop Demetrius Scruggs in the third quarter Friday night, as he led the Moore Haven Terriers in ground yardage in their 26 - 16 win over Christian Day.

The Crusaders were ahead 16 - 14 in the third quarter, until Scruggs scored on 6 and 65-yard runs to move the Terriers out-front.

Scruggs had 175 yards for the night and Eddie Gore added 70 more as the Terriers totaled up 263 yards on 52 carries against 120 yards on 30 tries for the Crusaders.

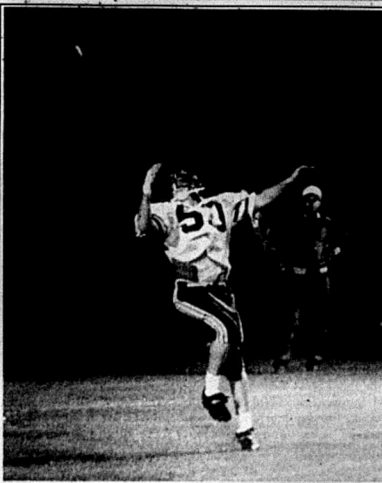

Moore Haven got on the board first with a 46-yard run by Scruggs, followed by a two-point PAT with Gore carrying.

The Crusaders matched that with quarterback Chris Cunningham keeping the ball and going in from the one, followed by Gus Peavy going in for the extra two.

Eddie Gore brought the ball in next for the Terriers, but the PAT conversion effort fell short, and the Terriers went ahead 14 - 8.

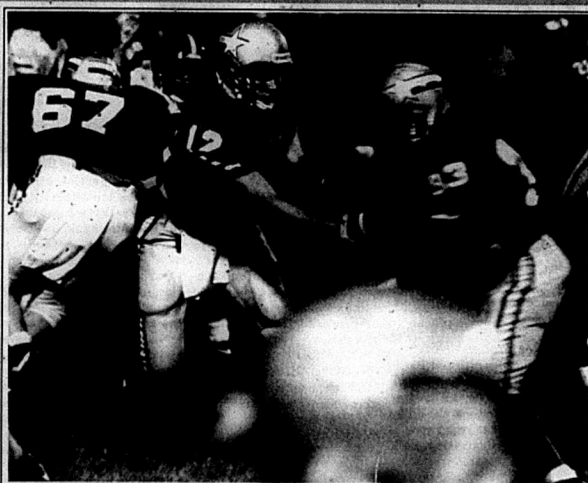

After the half, Calvin Bowens ran for 67 yards and six more points, and Gus Peavy carried in the PAT for two more, but then the Terriers retaliated.

Scruggs finished the Crusaders off with two touchdown runs of six and 65 yards, neither followed by successful PATs, and Moore Haven moved too far ahead for the Crusaders to catch up.

High, there...Moore Haven's punter, Cole Swafford, watches the snap go high over his head Friday night. This fourth down error gave the ball to the Crusaders.

Quarterback Terry Barber was 14 of 22 for 178 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions, according to Head Coach Mark Kaczanowicz.

Ulrich Williams started the scoring, taking a Barber pass for ten yards and six points. Next, Barber threw to Denorse Mosely, who caught the ball and carried it in on a 65-yard play. Andreall Johnson scored the two-point PAT on a Barber pass.

In the fourth quarter, Johnson scored on a 56-yard run and Barber carried in the PAT, then Mosely picked off a Panther pass and ran it back 60 yards for six more.

Coach Kaczanowicz said Keo Green led the defense with seven tackles, one fumble recovery, and two sacks. "He was outstanding," said the coach.

LOW BACK PAIN

If back pains are a way of life for you, the reasons can be varied and complex. Some may be pathological, but very often the cause is muscles which are either over or under-exercised which are producing spinal distortion. Vertebrae slip into abnormal positions, resulting in "pinched" and irritated nerves, which cause pain and even loss of function of the affected body part. Poor posture, or even emotional tension, can be the root cause.

Local Scientist wins award

Dr. Richard N. Raid, Plant Pathologist at the University of Florida's Everglades Research and Education Center in Belle Glade and Dr. Subu Subramanya, of Pepper Research, Inc., in Belle Glade, are the 1992 recipients of Florida Fruit & Vegetable Associations (FFVA) Research Awards.

The award, presented each year at the Annual Convention, is earned by the researcher who, in the opinion of the FFVA Membership, has contributed most to the benefit of Florida's fruit and vegetable industry. This year the award is presented to two researchers.

The 1992 presentation, made during the Awards Luncheon, as part of the 49th Annual Convention, honored both men for their years of dedicated research and service to the fruit and vegetable industry.

Dr. Raid has been instrumental in demonstrating to vegetable growers the most effective methods and formulations for preventing to vegetable growers the most effective methods and formulations for preventing and/or controlling various disease epidemics that plague the vegetable industry in the Everglades Agricultural Area. He has exhibited tremendous tenacity in his research approach and has proven himself to be a very dedicated scientist.

Dr. Subramanya has been involved in research striving for a bacteria free pepper. Dr. Subramanya's research has been most successful in many ways, one of which is the fact his research has lessened the pepper farmer's need for pesticides. He was one of the first to accurately identify broadmote damage on pepper.

Cathy Alicia Davis

Cathy Alicia Davis, daughter of Rev. Clifford and Doris Davis of South Bay, has been named to the Dean's List at the University of Central Florida.

She is a junior at the school majoring in psychology. A 1990 graduate of Glades Central, she also attended Christian Day School for several years.

Miss Davis plans to return to this area after graduation to possibly work in the Palm Beach County School System as a child psychologist.

Local warehouse fails to comply; loses gov't. approval

Due to failure to comply with regulations governing the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement (UGSA), the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), has removed Sem-Chi Rice products from the list of approved grain storage warehouses. This action was taken by the Kansas City, Missouri, Office, Storage

Contract Division, by written notice Dated August 31, 1992. Until further notice, no additional CCC-owned or loan commodities or commodities delivered to CCC for purchase under ASCS Price Support Program for Rice subject to the terms of the agreement under UGSA can be stored or handled through Sem-Chi Rice Products warehouse.

commodities. (NAFTA currently contains a volume-based tariff rate quota (TRQ) mechanism that the industry feels will artificially alter planting patterns during the quota periods, with the result that prices will be depressed early in each tariff window. Industry reps strongly requested a price and volume-based safeguard mechanism to protect the industry from downward price pressure caused by import surges during the transition period;

Require harmonization of standards-related measures including environmental and labor, within ten years of implementation of agreement. Must have enforcement of each nation's laws and regulations regarding the production of goods and services;

Ensure that U.S. agriculture continues to be protected from the introduction of harmful pests and diseases that could threaten human, plant, or animal health;

The agreement must contain strong enforcement mechanisms to prevent violation of rules of origin. Agreement must also ensure substitution is not utilized by a member country to the detriment of another member country.

These recommendations were sent to Trade Representative Hills September 30.

President Bush has initiated the agreement and made it clear he intends to sign it December 17. If so, it will go to Congress, which will then have 90 days to hold hearings and vote.

Arkansas Governor Bill Clinton has said he hasn't made up his mind, and won't, until he has studied the 2,000-page document which was not made available until September 17 when initiated by President Bush.

Under the "fast track" ratification method, interested persons have 90 days to read and comment on the agreement, starting September 17.

A spate of first-year lawmakers will be facing the NAFTA immediately upon taking office in January. They'll have 90 days to study, comment on, and vote on the agreement.

Observers say that's not enough time to comprehend the massive document.

Congressman Tom Lewis says he has been meeting with the Florida Congressional delegation and agriculture industry representatives in Washington.

"I heard no support for this from any representative as it stands," said the congressman.

"I believe the message was loud and clear. Either we make the agreement better, or it will not have Florida's support."

Congressman Lewis said the purpose of the meetings was to "factor the agriculture industry position into the NAFTA agreement."

"As I have stated in the past, I refuse to mortgage Florida's $6.3 billion agriculture industry and a minimum of 64,000 jobs under a North American Free Trade Agreement. We must make this agreement more fair to Florida agriculture, or unify to reject it," he noted.
